

The sock

A tiny little sock named Left feels very lonely some day, because her best friend named Right had suddenly disappeared.

Left looks for him in the whole house:
Left looks for him in the childrens' room.

Left looks for him in the kitchen.

Left looks for him in the bathroom.

Left looks for him in the living-room.
But nowhere she can find Right.

She goes back to the childrens' room.
There she meets Mary.
She stands there with only one single sock on her feet.

And Right says to Left: "We've been looking for you everywhere! In the childrens' room, in the kitchen, in the bathroom and in the living-room.
Where have you been?"
Left starts laughing and says: "I've been looking for you, too!"

Autor: Anita Türk
Illustration: Anna Stuffer